MOBILE READY TO RENT

As with stationary applications, a generator in a mobile application will be the main source of power, so fuel economy should be the primary decision-making criteria when selecting a generator. Mobile application generators are also moved from site to site using cranes, forklifts and trucks, and as such must be built with a very robust frame and canopy to ensure durability. Fuchardt's FMP Mobile series of generators come standard with a host of rental, construction and mining ready features, including bundled fork pocket skid base fuel tank, lockable battery isolators, centre lifts points, emergency stop, earth leakage protected outlet kits, fire extinguishers, and three way fuel valves for connection to external bulk fuel cells.
